

Summit Post

Outdoor Adventures Club

November 2011
Volume 1.2

The Summit Post
Is an Outdoor
Adventures Club
Publication to help keep our supporters
informed of our trips
and activities.

Visit us on Facebook

Outdoor Adventures Club News

On Saturday November 19th, the Outdoor Adventures Club, along with Link Crew, helped build a brand new trail at the Kern River Preserve. The plans had been in the works since late July. The Kern River preserve are protected land and wildlife areas located along the South Fork of the Kern River, east of Lake Isabella. The Preserve is managed by Audubon-California. We had about 20 student participants. The Trail Crew event was an opportunity for the Club to experience volunteer service and become familiar with the Preserve. Thank you to everyone who helped and we hope we can return to hike the new Tega Peak Trail in the future.

Visit the Kern River Audubon Society at kern.audubon.org

We look forward to these upcoming trips

Winter camping in
Morro Bay
Snow Day
Grand Canyon

